

Service Change Effective February 14, 2010

61•62•63•66

Service area to become Route 72

Atlantic Avenue

Route 62

Atlantic Ave. from the Long Beach Transit Mall to Hunsaker at 72nd

In order to meet greater demand to serve the Artesia Blue Line Station, Route 62 will be incorporated into Route 61, thereby providing more frequent service. The northern-most segment of service in the current Route 62 from Artesia Blvd. to Alondra Blvd. will be eliminated. However, much of that segment will become incorporated into what will be the new Route 72 (Orange Ave.).

Routes 61, 63 and 66

Atlantic Ave. from the Long Beach Transit Mall to Artesia Blvd. and on to the Artesia Blue Line Station

On the southern segment, service on Atlantic will be extended past 6th Street all the way down to Ocean, and then go into the Long Beach Transit Mall. The downtown segments currently looping around 7th and 6th Streets down to Ocean will be eliminated. However service on these streets will continue to be provided by a number of other routes. Route 66 will now end at Atlantic and Artesia, and no longer go to Artesia Blue Line Station.

--- Route 62 to be discontinued

Service area to be discontinued, but still served by routes 1, 46, 51, 52, 91, 92, 93, 94, 96, 172, 173, 174, 182

Route 61, 62, 63, 66 revised route
